GERMAN ARMY MILLION STRONG

Invaders Forge Ahead Toward Sea Regardless of Great Losses.

"CALAIS AT ANY COST"

Ineffectual Attempts to Drive Allies From Their Strong Positions at Lomaertzyde.

London, Nov. 12—Heavily re-enforced and forging ahead with no regard of their losses, the Germans—a million strong—are fighting desperately to follow out the Kaiser's orders and take Calais and Dunkirk "at any cost."

Terrific fighting along the coast and through Dixmude to the Lys continues today, with the invaders attempting so far in vain to drive the allies from their strong position at Lombaertzyde, north of Nieuport.

While the Germans are endeavoring to press the advantage gained in the capture of Dixmude by continuing their movement from the town along the left bank of the Yser, the allies are battling with desperation to hold the district about Dixmude and ward off disaster.

Further advantages gained by the Germans who apparently have rallied all along the line are the capture of St. Aloi, north of Ypres, and of positions west of Langemarck and distinct advantages in the struggle about La Bassee.

Teuton successes indicate that the Germans have succeeded in almost restoring the straight line from Ostend to Lille, by way of Ypres, which was first broken when the allies drove a part of the army back as far as Roulers.

The fighting in Dixmude was at bayonet points, and it is reported that the Germans during one night made sixteen charges with the utmost bravery against a withering fire and right up to the cold steed of the allies before falling back.

MOVEMENTS OF JAPANESE

Heavy Artillery Passing Over Trans Siberian Railway to Poland.

Chicago, Nov. 12—A Daily News Correspondent, who has just arrived in London from Port Arthur, cables:

"I obtained corroboration from two persons of an account given me of the passage of a quantity of Japanese heavy artillery in charge of Japanese officers over the Trans-Siberian Railway to Poland. Considerable secrecy was observed. At least two and perhaps more, long trains of Japanese guns have gone to the front.

"One passenger train consisting of half a mile of cars, left Vladivostok daily for the west, being hauled at a snail's pace by an antiquated locomotive, all the good locomotives in Siberia having been requisitioned for service in Russian Poland.

"Extraordinary precautions are taken to safeguard the enormous supplies of troops, horses and guns sweeping over the line day and night since early in August and that as yet show no sign of abating. Every bridge from Valdivostok to Petrograd is picketed by troops, and the tunnels are lined with sentries.

"In spite of the strict official reticence I learned that many attempts had been made by German agents to blow up the spanned bridges over the great rivers of northern Russia. Every passenger train nearing a multi-spanned bridge is boarded by a squad of cossacks armed with rifles, bayonets and revolvers. The passengers are told roughly to move away from the window and keep their hands visibly folded in their laps."

THE NORTH CAROLINA SAFE

Washington, Nov. 12—The cruiser North Carolina reported to have been blown up in Turkish waters, reported today safe and sound at Beirut.

She had not moved November 2 from her position, and had sustained no accident of any sotr.

NEWS OF THE DAY

The report of renewed tentatives for peace on the part of Germany, which, however, has in no sense been confirmed, with the purpose of detaching Russia from the other allies, as Germany is believed previously to have tried to detach France, is accepted in London as an indication that Germany is becoming aware of the difficulties of the task she has undertaken in prosecuting an offensive warfare against foes on two fronts.

Forty carloads of provisions sent to Antwerp to relieve the sufferings of the people of that city caught fire at the Antwerp railway station on Tuesday and were completely destroyed. The distress in Antwerp is said to be acute.

Fire yesterday in one of the great warehouses of the American Window Glass Company at Jeannette, Pa., caused damage estimated at from $750,000 to $1,000,000. The fire was discovered simultaneously at three or four different places, and is believed to have been incendiary.

The Petit Journal of Paris says the Duke of Brunswick, the son in law of the Kaiser, has been lost and that searches among the dead and wounded in France and Belgium have not revealed any information regarding him.

Losses to the German navy inflicted by the British since the war began amount to 22 vessels, exclusive of 1 unnamed destroyer, and the converted cruisers Trafalgar, Spreewald and Princess Alice. This is also exclusive of about 200 merchantmen with a total tonnage of about 200,000 captured or sunk by the British.

It is stated in Montevedo, that a Japanese squadron composed of three battleships and two cruisers, is approaching that port, where it will coal and then go to the Pacific and pursue German vessels there. A steamship just arrived reports that the German cruiser Karlsruhe is surrounded by hostile vessels between Cape Verde and Pernambuco. The Karlsruhe, is now convoying several captured vessels which she will have to abandon or sink.

The death of George Vosburg and his wife in their lonely farmhouse near Pine Plains, New York, during the Christmas holidays of 1912 was stripped of its mystery yesterday by the alleged confession of John Wood a farmer. Wood told the district attorney and the sheriff that he, with three companions, slew the couple with an axe, robbed them of $800 and then burned down the farmhouse. The charred bodies were found in the cellar. The district attorney placed Wood under arrest and announced that he had confessed the crime, because he could no longer endure the tortures of conscience and wished "to clear his soul."

The Germans, according to Petrograd dispatches, have suffered a more serious defeat on the East Prussian border than the official statements have disclosed. Advices from the Russian capital state that in the recent fighting there the Russians have captured more than 20,000 prisoners, together with quantities of guns and munitions. The Russian advance in Poland, which has been at the rate of 14 miles daily, has astonished the military experts, and it is not surprising to hear that they are picking up many foot sore and weary German stragglers. This advance of horse, foot, and artillery has continued for eighteen days.

George H. Neeley, a wealthy contractor and manager at Cushing, Okla., for the Petroleum Iron Works, of Sharon, Pa., and his wife, Estelle' were found shot to death in their room at a hotel in St. Louis yesterday. There were nine bullets in Mrs. Neeley's body, while her husband had one bullet hole in the right temple. Neeley's right hand still grasped an automatic pistol, indicating that he had killed his wife and then committed suicide. Letters found in the couple's effects indicated that they had separated, and that Mrs. Neeley intended getting a divorce so she could marry another man. The police theory is that Neeley effected a reconciliation with his wife, and then, finding she had received letters from another man, decided to kill her and end his own life.

CARRANZA AND VILLA AT WAR

Preliminary Battle Between Forces With Sanguinary Results.

MEXICAN SITUATION.

Villa Issues Widespread Appeal Calling Upon All Citizens to Fly to Arms in His Interest.

Juarez, Mexico, Nov. 12—With a preliminary battle between Carranzistas and Villa forces already having occured with sanguinary results and General Villa reported here to be marching on Queretaro with a force of 35,000 picked veterans, leaders of both sides admit that all signs point to yet another revolution being added to Mexico's already long history of internecine conflicts.

Firing, which stopped with nightfall last night at Leon, where Carranza's forces were routed was resumed in desultory fashion between the pursuing Villa troops and the fleeing rear guard of Carranzistas.

With a majority of the generals of the Aguas Calientes peace conference on his side, General Villa, with a few of his most trusted lieutenants has quietly prepared to lead a revolution which his friends say,, will end either in his triumphal entry into Mexico City or his complete elimination from the Mexican situation.

Consul General Rafael Musquiz the Carranza official at El Paso, announces through agents that Villa has issued a widespread appeal throughout the north and west on all citizens to fly to arms in his cause It was considered as significant that Musquiz, in declaring "all the south and east is loyal to Carranza" in his manifesto, made no such caims regarding the north and west.

DURATION OF WAR

Premier Asquith Believes Hostilities Will End Sooner Than Supposed.

London, Nov. 12—That the great European war may be concluded much earlier than had been expected was intimated by Premier Asquith in a speech before the House of Commons yesterday afternoon. He declared that the primary aims of the Germans had been frustrated.

"The country," said the premier, "now sees the allies in a position wherein England, in conjunction with the allies, has defeated the first designs of Germany.

"I doubt whether the war will last as long as was originally predicted."

While some continue to believe that the war will be one of years, there is an increasing number who think that the great offensive campaign by allies in the spring when England's new army of a million men can take the field, and Russia and France will be stronger than ever, will bring the conflict to an end, exhaustion also playing its part.

ENGLISH BOAT TORPEDOED

All Officers and Crew Saved—Four Men Injured.

London, Nov. 12—The official press bureau announced last night that H. M. S. Niger was torpedoed by a German submarine in the Downs yesterday morning, and foundered. All her officers and crew were saved, but four were injured.

The Niger was a comparatively unimportant unit in the British fleet. Classified as a torpedo gunboat, she was used, with her sister ships Circe, Hebe, Jason, Leda, Speedy and Antelope, in mine sweeping and fisheries protection. She was 810 tons register, 230 feet long and drew only twelve and one-half feet.

The sinking of the Niger, however, marks a real invasion of the British coast by German submarines, The Downs is a section of the Kentish coast, just south of the headlands that guard the entrance to the River Thames. It is a protected harbor.

DENIED NEW TRIAL

Mrs. Hall of Louisa Convicted of Killing Her Husband, Will Serve ten Years in Penitentiry

(Special Dispatch to the Gazette)

Richmond Nov. 12—In the Supreme Court of Appeals today Mrs. Elizabeth A. Hall, of Louisa, convicted of the murder of her husband in Green Srings, April 14, was denied a new trial. She will have to serve ten years in the penitentiary.

THE LATE C. H. DARLEY.

Funeral services for Charles H. Darley, a locomotive engineer of the Washington and Old Dominion Railway, who died yesterday at the home of his sister, Mrs. Julia V. Nalls, 517 south Alfred street, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from his sister's home. Mr. Darley was a member of Lynchburg Masonic Lodge and the Masonic funeral services will be said at his grave by the officers of Alexandria-Washington Lodge, No. 22. The lodge will meet at one o'clock tomorrow in Masonic Temple. A delegation of members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, of which Mr. Darley was a member, will also attend. The Rev. W. F. Watson, D. D., pastor of the First Baptist Church, will conduct the services.

SOUGHT VENGEANCE

New York Judge Made Target by White Slavers.

New York, Nov. 12—Vengeance sought by friends of "white slavers," whose lot north of the Harlem has been made hard by Judge Louis D. Gibbs, of Bronx county, is believed to have inspired the explosion of a bomb on Brock avenue plaza, the main entrance of the courthouse, shortly before 11 o'clock last night.

Judge Gibbs shares this belief with the police, but declares that he would not be intimidated. He had been conducting a forgery trial in his chamber during the evening and had gone down the stairs and out into the plaza when the explosion occured.

He said at the time he felt that he was being followed, and believes the bomb was hurled by some person or persons who sought his life.

One of the bronze pillars at the entrance of the courthouse was shattered, and its neighbor on the other side was damaged. Glass all over the building was broken, and Under Sheriff Michael J. Garvin, who was architect of the building estimated the damage at $15,000. Much of the interior woodwork and decoration was damaged.

The detonation was heard for blocks and the shock was so great that a woman who was crossing the plaza at the time, was knocked down. Windows on a southbound Third avenue elevated train which was passing were broken and a few passengers were slightly cut.

Only a few seconds after the courthouse bomb exploded another infernal machine blew up directly across the street in front of the office of John Choeffling, a city marshal. He had just locked up a prisoner and was not in his office, so that he escaped injury.

Leaves Church Service to Elope.

Huntington, W. Va., Nov. 12.—After conducting the opening exercises of a missionary society of her father's church Tuesday night, Miss Addie Crites, the 20 year old daughter of the Rev. J. W. Crites, of Emanuel Methodist Episcopal Church South, of this city, found her sweetheart, John Davis, waiting at the door with an automobile. While members of the missionary society were looking for Miss Crites to continue the meeting, she was being married to Mr. Davis at the home of the Rev. A. H. Reese, a United Brethern minister, two blocks distant from her home.

STUART CALLS AN EXTRA SESSION

General Assembly to Meet on January 13 to Revise Laws.

RECEIVES PETITION.

Special Term Will Continue for Thirty Days—Expected to Consider Only Tax Legislation.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 12—Governor Stuart last night signed a proclamation calling for an extra session of the General Assembly, to convene here on Wednesday, January 13, 1915 for the purpose of revising the tax laws of the State. The call was made in accordance with the provisions of the Constitution of Virginia, section 73, following the presentation of a petition bearing the names of two-thirds of the total membership of each house of the General Assembly. The proclamation follows:

"In obedience to call upon the Governor, with the signature of two-thirds of the total membership of each house of the General Assembly attached thereto making application, in accordance with section 73 of the Constitution of Virginia, for an extra session of the General Assembly, to convene at Richmond not later than the second Wednesday in January, 1915, for the purpose of revising the tax laws of the Commonwealth:

"I, H. C. Stuart, Governor of the Commonwealth of Virginia, in pursuance of the Constitution and laws do hereby summon the members of the Senate and House of Delegates, constituting the General Assembly of the State of Virginia, to meet in extra session at their respective chambers in the Capitol, at Richmond, at 12 o'clock noon, on Wednesday, the 13th day of January, 1915.

"In testimony whereof, I have hereto set my hand, and caused the Seal of the Commonwealth to be affixed, at Richmond, this the eleventh day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and fourteen, and of the Commonwealth the one hundred and thirty-ninth.

"H. C. STUART,
'Governor."

By the Governor:
B. O. James.
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

Speaker Edwin P. Cox, of the House of Delegates, accompanied by Clerk John W. Williams and Senator A. C. Harmon, presented the petition to the Governor yesterday afternoon. The petition asked that the General Assembly be ordered to convene and January 13 was suggested as the most desirable date to meet the plans contemplated by the last Legislature, when the act creating the tax commission was passed.

The petition carried the signatures of nearly ninety members of the House and twenty-seven members of the State Senate, The first petition, presented several weeks ago, was defective, because it carried the signatures of several members of the General Assembly who had voluntarily retired to accept Federal positions.

HORSE KILLS WOMAN.

Spirited Animal Kicks Mrs. Flannigan to Death.

Cumberland, Md., Nov. 12.—Mrs. Walter Flannigan, of Deer Park, was kicked to death by a horse. In company with her husband, she was driving home Monday night from Oakland in a buggy when the accident occurred. They had driven to Oakland during the day to have their buggy repaired.

While driving down the dark country road the dashboard bolts in some manner gave way, and the dash board fell on the horse's leg. The horse, a spirited animal, bolted and began kicking, throwing Mrs. Flannigan out and under the buggy. She was kicked several times in the head. Her skull was fractured and she died in a few minutes. Her husband who was driving, escaped injury

Today is patron's day at the Washington street school and a large number of parents and friends of the school children visited the school and saw the pupils at their regular work.

DEATH NOTICE.

DAVIS—Suddenly on Wednesday, November 11, 1914, about 5:30 P. M., UPTON D. DAVIS. Funeral Saturday morning at 10 o'clock from his residence, 911 Prince street. Interment private.

DEATH OF U. D. DAVIS.

Upton D. Davis, a well known employe of the Washington Southern Railway, employed as a clerk in the freight depot near the Union station, dropped dead in the depot yesterday afternoon shortly after 5 o'clock. Davis was sitting on a box talking to some of his fellow employees when he suddenly fell forward and died immediately. Davis was unmarried and resided with his sister, Miss Nannie M. Davis, at 911 Prince street.

BELLIGERENTS COMPLAIN

Great Britain and Germany Alleged Violations of Neutrality.

Charges by Great Britain that certain South American governments are failing to prevent violations of their neutrality committed in the interest of the German forces, have served to develop further responsibilities regarded by other governments as resting upon the United States because of its adherence to the Monroe doctrine.

It became known yesterday that the British government, instead of directly bringing to the attention of the South American governments concerned its charges with regard to the observance of strict neutrality spoke first to the United States government. The suggestion was made that, recognizing the peculiar position the United States occupies with regard to the foreign affairs of many Latin-American governments it seemed fitting that the attention of the United States should first be called to the alleged violations of neutrality.

Furthermore, it was strongly hinted that the United States government should take it upon itself to call to the attention of the South American governments the alleged violations referred to by the British with a view to their being stopped. The inference was plain that if the United States did not care to do this the British would feel free to proceed directly in the matter, but the British suggested that perhaps it would better suit the convenience of the United States and also avoid any possible irritation if the United States rather than Great Britain, acted first.

The charges concerned Ecuador and Columbia. The British government is satisfied from information that it has received that the German squadron in the Pacific, which recently met and annihiliated the British squadron off the coast of Chile, has had the use of wireless stations in Ecuador and Columbia, by means of which it received information regarding the movements of the enemy's ships and made its arrangements regarding supplies.

The German Ambassador, Count von Bernstoff, has vigorously protested to Secretary of Bryan against the shipment from this country to Great Britain of munitions of war. The protest was based upon the report that the Fore River Shipbuilding Company has accepted from Great Britain a contract to construct twenty submarines at total price of $11,000,000.

STATE FREE FROM CATTLE DISEASE

Gov. Stuart Says There is No Ground for Rumors Now Current.

WANTS QUARANTINE.

Executive Issues Statement Denying Presence of Malady and Asks Protection of Industry.

Richmond, Nov. 12—Virginia is absolutely free from the foot and mouth disease of cattle, which has made its appearance in Maryland and other neighboring States.

Commissioner of Agriculture Koiner Governor Stuart and other State officials, however, found it necessary yesterday to contradict an erroneous report, due to a misunderstanding of a request received Tuesday evening from a farmer living near Washington, who desired that an inspector be sent to his place to examine his cattle as a precautionary measure.

The application for the services of the inspector started a scare in that section of the State. It was speedily made manifest, however, that there was no occasion for apprehension. Strict enforcement of this State's quarantine against eleven States in which the disease is known or believed to exist has served to prevent the spread of the contagion to Virginia.

To dispell any lingering apprehension, however, the following statement was issued yesterday from the office of Governor Stuart:

"1 There is no case of foot and mouth disease in Virginia, nor has there been. The single case reported on suspicion was promptly investigated by State and Federal inspectors and was found to be in no way related to foot and mouth disease. The only trouble Virginia cattle are having to-day is to get safely through quarantined States under government seal and bond to an unquarantined market.

"2. The protection of this State by proper quarantine regulations against an outbreak of foot and mouth disease is of almost immeasurable importance, hence the widest publicity should be accorded quarantine rules and regulations and the strictest obedience given them.

3 The spread of unauthorized rumors as to cases of foot and mouth disease existing in Virginia should be avoided and only such statements should be believed as are vouched for either by the Governor or the State veterinarian. The circulation of an unfounded report as to the existence of this disease in Virginia would do harm only second to the presence of the disease itself. Such reports would almost surely result in a temporary quarantine against this State so that Virginia cattle, no matter how free from disease, would be excluded from their usual markets."

CONSTELLATION TO NEWPORT.

Daniels Refuses to Keep Ship at Washington.

Washington, Nov. 12.—Secretary Daniels has notified the District Commissioners that it would be impossible to station the old frigate Constellation at the national capital because of the need for her at the Newport training station.

Numerous Washington citizens had asked that the Constellation, now visiting here, be retained.

DEMOCRATS SHOW GAINS.

Majorities in Senate And House Larger Than at First Expected.

Washington, Nov. 12.—Democratic control of the Senate and the House has been further strengthened by unofficial election results received by Clerk of the House Trimble, who is compiling a roster of the new Congress. According to these estimates the Democratic plurality over the Republicans in the House will be 40, and majority over all 31. In the Senate the Democratic plurality over the Republicans will be 17, and majority over all 16.

BODY FOUND IN A CREEK

Deceased Supposed to Have Been A Soldier From Washington Barracks.

The body of a non-commissioned officer of the United States army, supposed to be a soldier connected with the engineering corps of the Washington barracks, was found in six feet of water at the middle of the electric car line bridge which crosses Big Hunting Creek, below Alexandria, this morning.

The body was discovered by N. B. Williamson, a linesman employed by the Washington Virginia Railway Company shortly before 8 o'clock. P. E. Clift, superintendent of the railway company, was notified and instructed Williamson to tie the body to one of the electric line poles and notify Coroner Kirby, of Fairfax county. The authorities at Ft. Hunt and Ft. Washington were also notified and an effort is being made to identify the remains.

It was first thought that the man attempted to walk from Alexandria to Ft. Hunt last night after missing the last train which leaves here at 11:50 p. m., and fell off the bridge. From Ft. Hunt a launch carries soldiers across the Potomac to Ft. Washington.

Later developments indicate that the man had been drowned in the river and floated with the tide to where the body was found. The police boat from Washington came down this afternoon and removed the remains to Washington.

COL. DICKINS' FUNERAL

Former Alexandrian Was Buried In Arlington Cemetery Today

The body of Colonel Raudolph Dickins, of the United States Marine Corps, who died in Philadelphia Monday, was buried in Arlington National Cemetery today with full military honors. Funeral services were held in Philadelphia early this morning and the body arrived in Washington at 1:45 o'clock. It was escorted from Union Station to Arlington by a detachment of soldiers, marines, and sailors. Honorary pallbearers were Rear Admirals Clark, Adams, and Cowdin, General Humphries, General Barnett, and Rear Admiral Osterhouse.

Colonel Dickins was born July 27, 1853, in Alexandria. After graduating from the University of Virginia, he was appointed a second lieutenant in the Marine Corps by President Grant on May 19, 1867. He was promoted to colonel April 1, 1905.

At the outbreak of the war with Spain he was in command of the marine guard of the battleship Oregon, and made the memorable trip around Cape Horn, which enabled the Oregon to reach Santiago in time to participate in the battle which resulted in the destruction of the Spanish fleet. For his gallantry in this action Colonel Dickins, then captain, was recommended for the brevet rank of major. During the Boxer rebellion in China, in the summer of 1900, Major Dickins commanded the Fifth Battalion of marines, which arrived at Taku, China, August 22, 1900, and served there until October of the same year.

Colonel Dickins was married in October, 1908, to Minnie V. Stinson, and is survived by her, and by one sister, Mrs. H. W. Wight, of Fredericksburg, Va.

COURT OF APPEALS.

Tribunal Refuses Appeal in Case of Free Fight in School.

The Supreme Court of Appeals yesterday refused to interfere with the decision of the Mecklenburg county Circuit Court, sentencing C. Irvin Walker to one year in the penitentiary for cutting G. A. Saunders during a row at a Christmas tree celebration.

The Supreme Court received a petition for appeal in the case of Henry Le Price and Thomas Gray Price et als vs. Lucy N. Price, executrix, et als, an appeal from the decision of the Franklin County Circuit Court in a land case.

The court granted a writ of error and supersedeas in the case of Jas. B. Baylor, trustee, vs. the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Company, an appeal from the decision of the Circuit Court of Albemarle County. In the original suit Baylor won judgment to the amount of $450, brought to recover from the railroad for damage by fire to forest on the Blue Ridge Mountains, alleged to have been started by sparks from a locomotive of the company.

Other proceedings in the court yesterday were as follows:

No. 7.—King et als vs. Johnson et als. Argued by Judge T. Embrey for appellants nad by J. W. Chinn, Jr. and C. Harding Walker, for the appellees, and submitted.

No. 8.—Trower, Committee vs. Spady, et als. Partly argued and continued until tomorrow.

Next cases to be called:

No. 9.—Face & Son vs. Cherry.

No. 11.—Hartley vs. Neaves, et als.

No. 11.—Tanner vs. Culpeper Construction Company.

No. 12.—Wyatt, et al vs. Gleason.

THE SCOURGE OF CHILDHOOD.

It seems almost unbelievable, but we have the word of the State Board of Health for it that thousands of Virginians are still unaware of the fact that there is such a thing as diptheria antitoxin and that it can be had at most reasonable rates. Columns have been written and statistics almost without number have been compiled, yet many parents do not know that this greatest remedy of modern medicine has robbed of all its horrors the most dreaded disease of childhood.

The story of diptheria antitoxin is one of the miracles of our day. Since the discovery of the germ diptheria, more than 30 years ago, there has been steady progress in knowledge of the disease. Investigation early showed that diptheria was caused only by taking into the nose or mouth the germs of diptheria that came from some one who harbored the germs in his throat or nose. It has been found that the diptheria germs multiply readily in the throats of human beings and that they do not always poison those in whose throats they grew. Some carry the germs indefinitely and suffer little inconvenience but they give diptheria to others. The use of a glass from which some one with diptheria has drunk may carry the disease; the uncleanly habit of putting the fingers in the mouth is likewise responsible for the spread of diptheria; a dozen ways might be mentioned by which the secretions from the mouth of one who has diptheria may reach a healthy person and give him the disease.

It was on the basis of this knowledge that Behring perfected diptheria antitoxin and introduced it in America just twenty years ago. The death rate from diptheria declined just in proportion as antitoxin became more widely used. Prior to 1894, the death rate in a severe epidemic of diptheria was sometimes as high as 35 per cent; nowadays, where antitoxin is administered promptly, the mortality does not go above 3 per cent. In cases where the antitoxin is given on the first day of the disease, recovery is almost certain without ill-effects of any kind. Two million lives, it is estimated, have been saved by antitoxin since it was discovered—a record excelled only by that of Jenner's smallpox vaccine.

To the general use of diptheria antitoxin there has been but one obstacle—the high price at which it has been sold. Ten, even twenty dollars have been demanded in some communities for antitoxin sufficient to cure a case of diptheria. Happily, however, this obstacle has been removed by an arrangement which the state government has made. Antitoxin is now dispensed through the State Board of Health, at absolute cost, to all who need it. The standard dose of 5,000 units, which sometimes costs $7.50 can be had through the State Board for $1.89, bill being rendered direct by the manufacturer.

We need only a wider knowledge of the nature of diptheria, of the methods by which it is spread and of the weapon available against it to list it among those diseases which man has conquered.

WHISPERINGS OF PEACE.

The personal appearance of King George in the British House of Lords yesterday, when the War Parliment assembled, attracted general attention. The young ruler was anxious and the terrible strain incident to the great war in which Britain is now engaged has left its impress. The Emperor William is also showing the effects of the tremendous responsibility he has taken upon himself during the past few months. Those who have studied him recently say he has aged considerably and has the appearance of an old man. Although he makes efforts to appear calm, he fails to veil his nervousness. While pretending cheerfulness, it can be seen that his good humor is artificial. He visits hospitals and uses the same stereotyped words: "We want to win we must win, we shall win."

While the fluctuations in this fearful clash of arms continue, and the carnage incident hereto is horrifying the world, there are above the dim faint whispering of peace, which, however, are immediately drowned by the terrific cannonading which is constantly in progress.

Some time ago it was said that Germany had intimated that she was not especially incensed at France and it was implied that that country could step aside without loss of territory or prestige. It is now reported that similar tentative suggestions have been made by the Kaiser's representatives to Russia. In both instances the overtures were promptly rejected, as the triple entente have agreed that neither of the trio can make peace without concurrence of the other.

The clouds seem to have thickened during the past few days. and the tide of war is still sweeping thousands from the earth.

According to dispatches today, Japan is bringing cannon and other military supplies through Russia into Poland, and the Mikado and the Czar will in all probability vie in the fighting in East Prussia.

FORCES THAT CAUSED CRISIS IN EUROPE.

A subscriber to the Gazette has handed us an intensely interesting pamphlet entitled "The Present Crisis in Europe," from the pen of Prof. John W. Burgess, late of Columbia University and one of the Exchange professors in the Universities of Berlin, Bonn and Leipzig. Professor Burgess who says that he is "an Anglo-American of the earliest stock and the most pronounced type" discusses the causes leading up to the great war in progress and absolves Germany from blame.

In the beginning he declares that from the time that he first took his seat in the lecture room of a German University, more than 40 years ago, he imbided "the doctrine that the great national, international and world purpose of the newly created German empire was to protect and defend the Teutonic civilization of Continental Europe against the Oriental Slavic quasi-civilization on the one side and the decaying Latin civilization on the other."

Edward VII is declared to be largely responsible for conditions that brought about the present crisis. When he came to the throne in 1901, says Professor Burgess, he saw Great Britain's interest in the Orient threatened by Russia's policy of extension in Asia and her commercial interest throughout the world threatened by the active and intelligent competition of the Germans. His encouragement of Japan brought about the Russian-Japanese war which checked Russia, and he was largely responsible for the arrangement of the quasi-alliance, called the entente, between Great Britain, France and Russia, aimed against the triple alliance of Germany, Austria and Italy.

The three great forces therefore which were as early as a decade ago, making for universal war in Europe were the "Pan-Slavic program of Russia, the "Revanche" of France and Great Britain's commercial jealousy of Germany.

Professor Burgess tells an interesting story of the facts immediately preceeding the present war. He says that Russia had recovered from the losses of the Japanese war and the internal anarchy that preceeded it, France had perfected its military organization, Turkey had been driven by the allied Balkan States out of calculation as an anti-Russian ally, Bulgaria, Austro-Hungary's ally, was completely exhausted by the war with Turkey, and Great Britain was in need of an opportunity to divert the minds of her people from the internal questions which were threatening to disrupt her constitution. "The practiced ear," says Prof. Burgess, "could discern the buzz of the machinery lifting the hammer to strike the hour of the Armageddon." The murder of the heir of the Hapsburgers was all that was necessary to bring about the action that had been looked for.

Professor Burgess finds that Germany was forced into the circumstances that followed. Finding that Russia was mobilizing troops, Germany was compelled to declare war against her and no guarantee of neutrality from France made the second step necessary.

As France could move faster than Russia, the Germans turned the force of her arms against her. They undertook to reach her by way of what they supposed to be the lines or least resistance. These lay through the neutral states of Belgium and Lumxemburg. They claimed that France had already violated the neutrality of both by invasion and by flying of her war airships over them, and they marched their columns into both. Belgium resisted. The Germans offered to guarantee the independence and integrity of Belgium and indemnify her for all loss and injury, if she would not further resist the passage of German troops over her soil She still refused and turned to Great Britain.

Great Britain now intervened and in the negotiations demanded as the price of her neutrality that Germany should not use her navy against France and should desist from her military movements through Belgium and when the Germans asked to be assured that Great Britain herself would respect the neutrality of Belgium and remain neutral throughout the entire war on the basis of the fulfillment of her requirements by Germany, the British government made no satisfactory reply but declared war upon Germany.

Professor Burgess makes no prophecy as to the outcome of the war, but he does declare that the triumph of Germany Austro-Hungary can never be so complete as to make any changes in the present map of Europe, while on the other hand the triumph of the allies cannot fail to give Russia the mastery of the continent of Europe and restore Great Britain to her sovereignty over the seas.

He says that we may draw back in dismay before such a consumation: "The rattle of the sabre would then be music to our ears in comparison with the crack of the Cossack's knout and the clanking of Siberian chains, while the burden of taxation which we would be obliged to suffer in order to create and maintain the vast navy and army necessary for the defense of our territory and commerce throughout the world against the gigantic powers with their Oriental ally, Japan, would sap our wealth, endanger our prosperity and threaten the very existance of our Republican institutions.

HORSES WERE STABBED.

Fire on Rembrandt Not Alone Held Responsible for Loss of Allies.

Newport News, Va., Nov. 12.—Despite all efforts of secrecy, the refusal of officers of the Rembrandt and agents to discuss the matter and the placing of armed guards about the ship with orders that no one be allowed to go aboard or leave the vessel, persistent rumors of an alleged attempt to destroy the ship and her cargo are being circulated here following the arrival yesterday of the British steamer which caught fire Saturday when 200 miles off the Virginia Capes. It was announced that 61 of the 800 horses shipped from Baltimore to the allied army in France had either been burned or suffocated and were thrown overboard. Since then eight more have died.

The rumors are that a veterinarian employed on the steamer, who was said to be a German, was suspected. It was also reported that many of the horses died from stab wounds and poison, and Captain Edlin is alleged to have declared that even had it not been for the fire he would have had none of the horses alive by the time he reached France.

While these rumors are denied by agents of the line, there is good authority for the statement that many of the animals had wounds such as would be made from the jab of a pitchfork. It is also learned that the agents and ship officers "have some one on board they are anxious to get rid of."

ARRIVAL OF FOREIGN TOYS

Consignment Reaches Newport News on Dutch Steamship

Newport News, Va., Nov. 12—American children will not be without foreignmade Christmas toys. A large consignment arrived here yesterday on the Dutch steamship Westerdijk from Rotterdam. The boxes were marked "American property" Capt. Dejond took this precaution to protect the goods from possible confiscation.

British war vessels stopped the liner in the English Channel and forced her to proceed to Southampton where 800 pounds of copper was removed as contraband.

MISS BURWELL A BRIDE.

Virginia Girl Weds D. W Burchard, of Philadelphia.

Winchester, Va., Nov. 12.—Christ Protestant Episcopal Church, Millwood, Clarke county, Va., was the scene of a brilliant wedding yesterday afternoon when Miss Margaret Bryd Page Burwell, daughter of the late Doctor and Mrs. Phillip Burwell, became the bride of Dudley Woodworth Burchard, of Philadelpria. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. John M. Robeson, rector of the church.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Thomas H. Burwell, of Millwood. She wore a gown of white satin trimmed with lace, with a tulle veil caught by a wreath of orange blossoms, and carried lilies of the valley. She was attended by Miss Mary Page Nelson, formerly of Clarke county, but now of Baltimore, as maid of honor. The ushers were Kenneth N. Gilpin, George Burwell and William and Lewis Meade, all of Clarke county.

A reception was held after the wedding at Mintburn, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel B. Page, near Millwood. They will live in Philadelphia, where Mr. Burchard is connected with the Curtis Publishing Company as manager of one of its departments.

Nurse Sues For $30,000.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 12.—Miss Emma D. Thurston, a trained nurse, who was arrested several months ago for giving checks to the H. P. King Company, Bunting & Son, Dr. N. I. Ardan and others, of Bristol, instituted suit for $30,000 damages against the firms. The declaration states she owed the firms money and gave them checks which she asked be held until she placed money in a Richmond bank to meet them. This, she claims, was not done and she avers her arrest damaged her to the extent of damages asked.

Why Not Publish It?

When you want a fact to become generally known, the right way is to publish it. Mrs. Joseph Kallans, Peru Ind., was troubled with belching sour stomach and frequent headaches. She writes, "I feel it my duty to tell others what Chamberlain's Tablets have done for me. They have helped my digestion and regulated my bowels. Since using them I have been entirely well." For sale by all dealers.

By virtue of authority vested by deed of trust dated the first day of August, 1913, and admitted to record on the 4th day of September, 1913, in Liber Q, No. 7, page 526 of the land records of Fairfax County, and on account of default in the payment of the debt thereby secured, and by request of the holders of the notes thereby secured, the undersigned trustee will, on SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1914. at eleven o'clock A. M., in front of the Royal Street entrance to the market building in the City of Alexandria, Virginia, offer for sale, at public auction the following property, to wit:

That certain tract or parcel of land situated in Lee Magisterial District Fairfax County, Virginia, known as part of Ravensworth estate, and assessed for taxation as 583½ACRES, and described in a deed from Mary Custis Lee to George R. Javins, dated April 3, 1906, recorded in Liber T, No. 6, page 414, as follows:

"Beginning at the point of intersection of the Old Rolling Road with the line that divides the land of John Javins from the party of the first part and running east along said dividing line to a point where said line crosses the Accotink Run; thence in a southerly direction following the meanderings of said Run to a point where said Run crosses the line that divides the land of the said party of the first part from that of Kary Hill; thence west along said dividing line to the intersection of said line with the Old Rolling Road; thence along said road in a northwesterly direction to the intersection of the said road with the line that divides the land of the said party of the first part from that of Alexander Denty; thence north along said dividing line to a point, 'C,' as shown in the plat of Ravensworth made by R. R. Farr surveyor, in the year 1874, and recorded in Liber R, No. 4 page 452 of the land records of the County of Fairfax and the State aforesaid said plat is hereby referred to as part of this deed; thence in a northwesterly direction along said dividing line to the second intersection of the said line with the Old Rolling Road; thence in a northerly direction along said road to the place of beginning. The tract hereby conveyed containing all of the land owned by the said Mary Custis Lee lying west of Accotink Run." And being the same property which was conveyed to Frederick H. Sanders by Samuel L. Monroe et ux and F. F. Marbury by deed duly recorded amongst the land records of the County of Fairfax, Virginia.

TERMS OF SALE—ONE-THIRD CASH and the balance in two equal installments, payable in one and two years to be secured by first lien upon the property. A deposit of two hundred and fifty (250.00) dollars cash will be required when the property is knocked down to the purchaser and ten days will be allowed to examine the title and make the balance of the cash payment.

HOWARD W. SMITH, Trustee.

BRIDE SHOT FROM AMBUSH.

Several Attempts Had Recently Been Made to Poison Young Couple

Iola, Kans., Nov. 12.—Mrs. Roy Ard, the bride of a wealthy young farmer, was shot from ambush and killed early yesterday while driving home in a motor car with her husband. The shooting took place on a lonely road, five miles from Elsmore, twenty miles southeast of here, and the scene was within a mile of the home Ard had recently erected for his bride. A shot gun was used by the assassin, who lay hidden in trees bordering the road. The police have no clue. The Ards had been married six months.

The tragedy followed numerous threats against the young couple. Three weeks ago, according to friends of the family, poison was placed in the water at the Ard farm. Later, upon opening a can of fruit a peculiar taste was noticed and an analysis disclosed a deadly poison.

Two weeks ago Mr. and Mrs. Ard were fired upon as they were returning from church. Last Sunday night as Ard entered his hay mow to throw down hay for his horses he was struck upon the head with a club. His assailant escaped.

Mr. Ard, his wife, and her sister, Miss Latimer, had been visiting at a neighbor's and were returning home. Mrs. Ard was driving the motor car when the shooting occurred.

Neither Ard nor his wife's sister would discuss the shooting. The Ard family is one of the oldest in the country and founded the town of Elsmore. Ard was 26 years old.

SHOOTS DAUGHTER'S SLAYER.

But Oklahoma Man Fails to Capture Razor Wielder.

Durant, Okla., Nov. 12.—Awakened early yesterday by a scream from his 16 year old daughter, Pauline, who was sleeping on a screened porch, Jake Amsell, a prominent merchant here, rushed to his daughter's aid and found a strange man bending over her, a razor in his hand. The girl's throat had been cut and she was dead before the father reached her.

Amsell grappled with the man, who slashed him with the razor and drew a pistol. Amsell wrested the weapon from the man and fired, wounding him, but he escaped.
